

Killeen Man Dies Of Self-Inflicted Gunshot Wound After Standoff

>

A Killeen man who police said shot himself after a standoff that started when U.S. Marshals attempted to serve a warrant died Wednesday afternoon at Darnall Army Community Hospital.

The U.S. Marshal Service Task Force attempted to serve a felony revocation warrant on 53-year-old Hervial Norman Callender Wednesday morning at 308 N. 14th St.

The man, who was armed, refused to surrender and threatened to commit suicide.

The Killeen Police Department's Tactical Response unit responded to a call for assistance and evacuated residents within a two-block radius of the home.

Just before 2 p.m. Wednesday, Callender was taken to Darnall with what police said was a self-inflicted gunshot wound. He was pronounced dead about 90 minutes later.

An autopsy was ordered.

Find this article at:

<http://www.kwtx.com/news/headlines/1326592.html>

